- The District continues to look for opportunities to offload vacant buildings.
- Vacant buildings are costly for the District to maintain and have the potential to create blight in the community.
- Revenue generated from the sale of vacant buildings will be invested in our schools.

- Last summer, the District put out an RFB advertising vacant facilities for sale.
- Included in this RFB was Hatch, which is slated to be vacant when the new Camden High School opens this fall.
- After engaging in the RFB process and securing DOE approval, the District is moving forward with selling Hatch to KIPP for $1,600,000.
- KIPP will renovate the building and use it as a middle school.

- The $1.6 million generated from the Hatch sale will be immediately invested in important capital projects at Camden High & Woodrow Wilson, including the Bleachers, Track, and Ticket Booth.

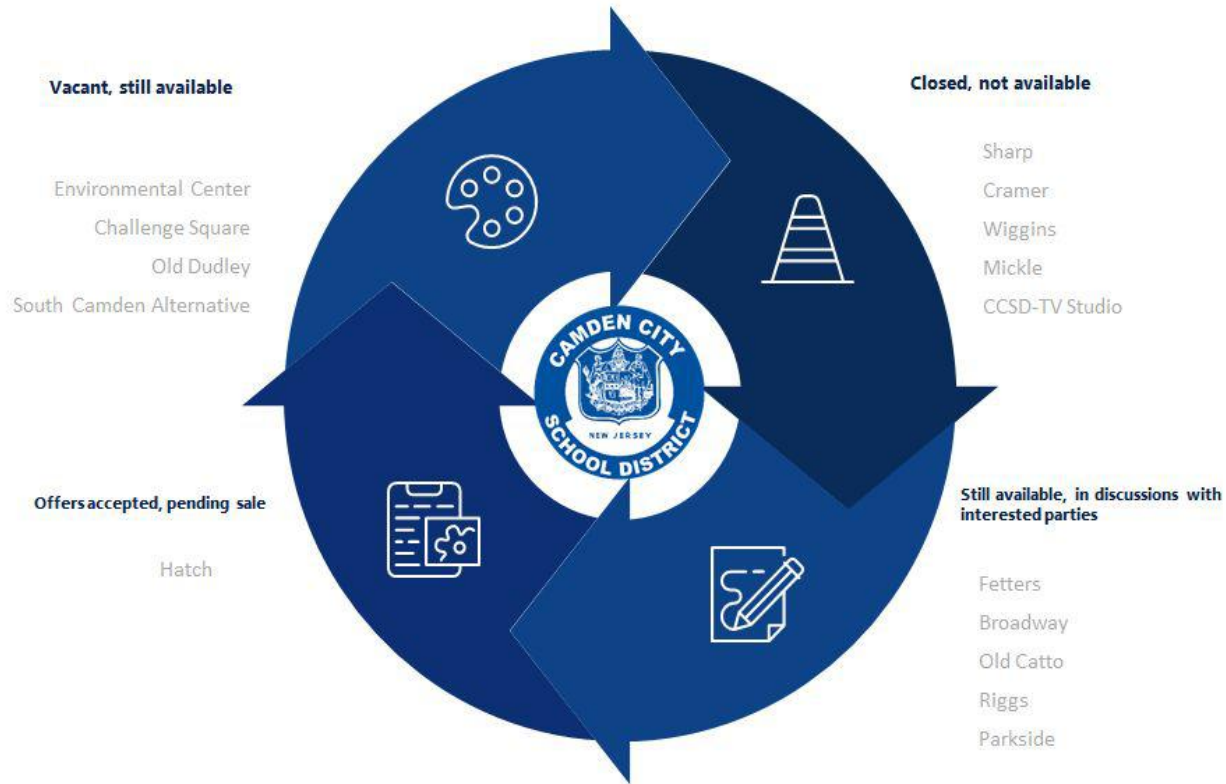

- The District will continue to look for opportunities to offload vacant buildings.
- We are currently engaged in negotiations with grassroots, community-based organizations for other advertised facilities.
- If agreements are reached and DOE approval is secured, we will move forward with additional sales and notify the public.
- All revenue from sales will be invested back into schools we operate.
