Notes about this Pacing Chart:

DAILY: Collect Student Assessment Data for at least 3 children; Input all data and assess the children's preliminary levels (III). With approximately 40 working days in each marking period, teachers should have at least 120 observations input by the end of each marking period when inputting at least 3 observations per day. NOTE: This is the minimum number of observations that should be input but you will need more than this in order to accurately assess your students on all objective/dimensions.

Weekly: Utilize student assessment data from Teaching Strategies GOLD and The Creative Curriculum Teaching Guides to plan for differentiated instruction.

Data Accountability:

Check that all child demographic information in GOLD is accurately input:

- Home language Survey should be completed on all students
- IEP status
- o Student ID number
- Class level (children born between 10/2/2013 and 10/1/2014 should be in the blue band; children born between 10/2/2014 and 10/1/2015+ should be in the green band)
- All other demographic information (race/ethnicity, home language, data of birth, funding sources, free/reduced lunch status)
- Review the "Class Profile Report" and utilize preliminary student assessment data for lesson planning.
- Review the "Documentation by Objective/Dimension" report and the GOLD Pacing chart to plan for continued assessment.

Email your PIRT Specialist and Educational Program Specialist with any updates to your class list.

For any students with an IEP: Conference with related service providers (such as Resource Teachers, Speech Therapists, Occupational Therapists, Physical Therapists, Case Manager, etc.) to plan for continued ongoing collaboration, set goals and discuss student progress.

Changes in enrollment (new students/students leaving the program): All information in Teaching Strategies GOLD must be updated and notify your assigned PIRT Specialist and Educational Program Specialists of any changes to enrollment at any time throughout the year. Students who leave should be "archived" in GOLD rather than deleted.

Note: Any staff members who have difficulty meeting specific dates should speak with her/his Educational Program Specialist or PIRT Specialist prior to the date to discuss the situation.

Check-in Protocol: The Office of Early Childhood check-ins, as indicated on the teacher's pacing chart, is to ensure the curriculum and assessment are implemented with fidelity and as an additional accountability measure by the department. Check-ins typical result in additional feedback or conversations from EPS, PIRT and or Supervisors from the Office of Early Childhood. Feedback may focus on lesson planning, modifications, developmentally appropriate practices, quality observations and documentation, appropriate leveling, accurate data, etc. Additional support and resources will be provided according to individual teacher's needs.
